

5 Family-Friendly Activities in Moab, Utah

 redriveradventures.com/rafting/5-family-friendly-activities-in-moab-utah

There is no better place you can take your children than going on outdoor experience. If you plan a family vacation, consider visiting Moab to experience a range of exciting spectacles and landscapes. Moab is one of the favorite destinations if you are looking for family-friendly activities. Located in eastern Utah, the city is famous for its rock formations, national parks, and dinosaur fossils. The place is nature at its best and presents a perfect scenery to take away the grind of a hectic life. Here are the family-friendly activities you can do with your kids in Moab during a family vacation.

Go Hiking in the Arches National Park

One of the main attraction points in Moab is the beauty of Arches national park. Take your loved ones on a hiking trip around one of the largest freestanding arch in the Arches national park. You will experience a host of exciting features within this park, such as the Petroglyphs and the Wolfe Ranch cabin. The Arches national park has an extensive collection of natural arches that are highly spectacular. You will also experience the life of several native people who occupied the area years before it was made a park.

Discover Dinosaurs at Moab Giants

You and your family can also visit Moab Giants, an exciting museum, and experience the life-sized dinosaurs. This is an interactive museum that features excellent exhibits of the dinosaurs and everything surrounding them. Take your loved ones through this historical journey of dinosaurs by watching a 3-D movie within the museum. This is one of the exciting but educational activities you can give your children during a family vacation.

Mountain Biking in Dead Horse Point State Park

One of the great things to do in Moab is to experience the excellent mountain biking experience. At dead horse point state park, there is the family-friendly intrepid trail system that appeals to people of all ages. Children can take on a smaller distance mountain biking while adults try the harder trail within the great pyramid. Furthermore, you can go on a beautiful 4-mile hiking trip outside of the Grandstaff Canyon Trail on Morning Glory Bridge.

Take Your Family Members to Colorado River for River Rafting

Another exciting activity in Moab entails river rafting on the beautiful Colorado River. Experience the family-friendly water adventure on a half-day river trip. Moab has several river rafting firms that offer gentle rapids for family fun. You can research the internet to find a company and book your adventure on the famous Colorado River.

Swim in the Moab Recreational and Aquatic Center

The new recreational and aquatic center in Moab features a spectacular outdoor pool for children and adults alike. These outdoor pools are open between May and September, containing everything that can excite your children. For example, you can take your children to the smaller pools in the recreational center as you relax on a pool chair enjoying the fresh air.

There are tons of family-friendly activities in Moab, apart from the two incredible national parks nearby. With the right bit of planning, you will experience the best time visiting Moab with your loved ones. When planning for a family vacation or camping, consider some of these exciting places and the associated family-friendly activities. Contact Red River Adventures to plan your Moab, Utah adventure today!

Questions? Call \(877\) 259-4046 or Email Us
